

Workshop by Ar. Pramod Beri

12-13th September 2015

Ar.Pramod Beri introducing the students about workshop

The hands on workshop on 'Form Follows Feelings' was conducted in the department by eminent architect Pramod Beri -- the workshop is meant for architectural students and young professionals who want to authentically and holistically understand the theory of and "feel" the eternal principles of architecture through experimentation.

Students and faculty members experimenting in workshop

Under this workshop a common lecturer and groupwork activities were organized. Students were distributed into groups and they were asked to perform some activities.

In this workshop Ar. Pramod Beri asked students to make some models with the use of cardboard and pipes of corridors, lanes, building façades etc. and the other group was asked to go through those lanes and corridors to feel the experience.

Ar. Pramod Beri explaining the students about the workshop

Students and faculty members in the workshop

Students, faculty members with Ar. Pramod Beri